

Emmanuel Taiwo Babalola has a PhD in English from Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife, Nigeria where he currently works as Senior Lecturer specializing in Applied English Linguistics and Contemporary English usage. He has presented and published in both local and international settings. Most of his publications have discussed the use of the English language in formal and informal domains in Nigeria, with a view to highlighting its peculiarities of standardness and acceptability. Dr Babalola is also a member of The Linguistic Association of Nigeria (LAN) and The Association of Nigerian Teachers of English.